

SWEARS TITUS LET POOL-ROOM RUN WIDE OPEN

McAdoo's Secretary Testifies at Trial of Inspector of Frequent Warnings.

RAIDS OVER HIS HEAD

Place at No. 92 Sixth Avenue Permitted to Resume Business Three Times.

TOLD OF OTHER POOL ROOMS

Mr. Howell Declares that Titus Had Promised to Keep Them Closed, But Failed to Do So.

Police Inspector George F. Titus, charged with failing to suppress pool-rooms and disorderly houses in the Second Inspection District, over which he was in command until suspended by Commissioner McAdoo, was today placed on trial before Deputy Commissioner McAdoo. Through his counsel, Frank L. Davis, he pleaded not guilty to all the counts, and asked that the charges be dismissed. The motion was denied.

John Gagner, a policeman attached to the Mercer street station, was called on the stand as the first witness. Questioned by Third Deputy Commissioner Landwehr, who acted as prosecutor, Gagner testified that he was stationed at No. 92, Sixth Avenue on the afternoon of Feb. 14, that he saw more than fifty men enter the place, and that while he was on duty the premises were raided under the order of the Commissioner, who believed that a pool-room was in operation there.

Howell the Star Witness.
William Howell, secretary to Commissioner McAdoo, was the star witness of the day. He testified that Titus had been repeatedly warned of the existence of alleged pool-rooms in the Mercer street precinct and had promised the Commissioner to close them. They usually resumed operations within twenty-four hours.

"I called up Inspector Titus on the telephone on the day that he was suspended and discussed with him the condition of affairs. I warned him that alleged pool-rooms at No. 92, Sixth Avenue, No. 12 East Thirtieth street and No. 31 East Jones street had all been raided by the Commissioner's orders, and that he did not wish them to open again. Titus asked for an interview with me that afternoon and we met at 2 o'clock. At that interview he promised that conditions in the precinct should be improved and declared that the three houses mentioned should not be opened again under any circumstances.

"The very next day," continued the witness, "I saw that an alleged pool-room on McDougall street was running apparently in full blast, but I said nothing about it. I wished to give Titus a chance to show what he would do. On Jan. 14 I learned that the pool-room at No. 92, Sixth Avenue was in operation and the Commissioner once more said it raided.

Titus Again Warned.
On Jan. 14, Titus was warned, telling him that right on top of his promise to keep the pool-room closed had been broken. On the next afternoon the place was open as usual and was raided for the third time at the order of the Commissioner. This time he found that the pool-rooms on East Thirtieth street and Great Jones street were open, and he was told by the Inspector's promise that he would keep them closed.

CZAR DISSOLVES STRIKE BOARD

St. Petersburg Workmen Refuse to Choose a Representative to Serve on It, and Arbitration Move Fails.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 7.—The Imperial Commission appointed to assertain the causes of discontent among the working people of St. Petersburg has been dissolved by order of the Emperor.

"An official communication explains that this action is due to the impossibility of proceeding with the proposed plan in consequence of the refusal of the workmen to elect representatives to the Commission.

DECLARED "GRANDMA" USED INTOXICANTS.

But Court Decided That Out No
plication for Alimony.

In opposing to-day the application for temporary alimony and counsel fees of Mrs. Daniel Joseph McGinnis, the beautiful and youthful-looking grandmother whose husband, a tailor with a salary of $12,000 a year, is superior for divorce, William H. McGinnis, her husband, declared that Mrs. McGinnis was addicted to the use of intoxicants.

McGinnis testified that in opposition to the question of alimony he did not care to go into the merits of the case. Whether or not Mrs. McGinnis's application will be granted will be decided this afternoon.

CHADWICK DEALS KEPT SECRET BY BANKERS

Directors Knew Nothing of Loans Made to Woman Financier.

A FLOOD OF CHECKS.

(Special to The Evening World.)
CLEVELAND, March 7.—Checks gal-loring all reminders of Mrs. Cassie Chad-wick's financial doings, figured as evidence in the trial of the woman with many dupes which was resumed in the United States Court to-day.

Mrs. Chadwick had recovered from her fainting fit which ended the trial yesterday, and took an active part in her defense, frequently consulting her lawyers.

Andrew Carnegie was not in court and the spectators, many of whom were women, gave all their attention to the prisoner.

Deals Not Reported.
After E. H. Holler and John F.
Reynolds, directors of the Citizens' Bank of Oberlin, O., had testified that they had known nothing of the deals with Mrs. Chadwick until after the bank had suspended, C. P. Doolittle, an instructor in Oberlin College, and also a director of the bank, testified that at all meetings of directors the minutes of the last preceding meeting were read by Cashier Spear, as well as the discount book. He never knew of any dealings between the bank and Mrs. Chadwick until the day before the bank closed.

None of the Chadwick deals were ever reported by Mr. Spear to the directors, the witness said.

Paid to Beckwith.
A. B. Marshall, vice-president of the First National Bank of this city, told on the stand that he knew Beckwith and Cashier Spear. He first met Mrs.
Chadwick last May. She kept an account with the First National Bank. He had some conversation with Mrs. Chadwick in October, 1904, when she asked if the First National Bank would cash a check for $2,000, certified by the Citizens' National Bank of Oberlin.

Mr. Beckwith, who was present with Mrs. Chadwick, was assured that the check would be cashed if certified by him. On Oct. 14, 1904, Beckwith telephoned the First National Bank to send the proceeds of check for $2,000 to the Kennard House and deliver the proceeds to C. T. Beckwith. He took the money in the presence of Mrs. Chadwick.

The testimony of Mr. Marshall declared the fact that a check certified that the money was in the bank on the date of certification.

Held Back Checks.
The fact that the checks of Mrs. Chadwick were held for a week or longer was urged by the Government as a bad sign.

"It is customary in banking circles to pay certified checks when they are no money in the bank to guarantee."
"It is done every day," replied Mr.
Marshall.

The District Attorney asked if it was customary to pay checks when there was no money in the bank to guarantee.

Marshall.

POISON IN CAPSULES GIVEN MRS. STANFORD

Chemists Find Strychnine and New Phase Presented in the Case.

MISS BERNER QUESTIONED

Declares They Were Made Up from a Prescription in San Francisco.

MADE OVER SEVERAL TIMES.

Young Woman at Inquest Tells How Woman Philanthropist Died of Efforts Made to Save Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—A despatch from Honolulu, which says that the reason for the failure of the chemists to make their report last night of the analysis of Mrs. Stanford's stomach, was the startling discovery that the capsules, one of which Mrs. Stanford took at the same time she took the bicarbonate of soda on the night of her death, also contained strychnine.

The chemists had finished the analysis of all organs of the body when they were unexpectedly called on to test the capsules. They were kept by Miss Berner. She gave one to Mrs.
Stanford at the same time the dose of bicarbonate of soda was prepared.

On being analyzed the capsules were found to contain strychnine, or strychnine. The apparent difficulty of determining which might have caused death placed the chemists in a peculiar predicament.

Miss Berner, when questioned about these capsules, explained that they were prescribed many years ago by a San Francisco physician. She had had it made over and over again. One of the component parts of the capsules was poison.

Police Call Servants.
Albert Beverly, formerly butler, and Miss M. P. Richmond, formerly maid in Mrs. Jane L. Stanford's household, have been closely examined secretly by detectives Burnett. A police photographer took pictures of Beverly and Miss Richmond.

Miss Grace Gilmore, a ward of Mrs.
Stanford, said that she believed a murder had been committed, and that the murderer was now in San Francisco.
She refused to say whom she suspected or to designate the grounds of her suspicion. Miss Gilmore said that Mrs.
Stanford recently said she was positive that some one in her household had endeavored to poison her, but that she suspected no particular one.

Jerome B. Stanford, nephew of the late Senator Stanford, denies the statement that he intended to contest Mrs.
Stanford's will.

SHOOT BAYMAN, CAUSES RIOT

Clam Planter Resents Trespass by Clam Digger with a Gun, and Police Reserves Have to Be Called.

John Bennett, a bayman, twenty-four years old, living at Conkling avenue, and Ninety-second street, Carnarville, was shot in the leg by George W.
Davis, a planter, of Avenue K and East Ninety-fourth street, this afternoon.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court last week handed down a decision, declaring that baymen had the right to dig clams wherever they pleased.

Bennett, on the strength of the decision, went into waters "planted" by Davis and began digging. As soon as Davis saw Bennett at work he seized his shotgun and running to the water's edge, blazed away. Bennett was shot twice in the leg before he could escape.

Several baymen went to his assistance and set upon Davis. The latter's accents attracted a number of his neighbors, who hastened to the scene, and a small-scale riot followed. Bennett was taken to the hospital.

Davis was arrested and Bennett was taken to the hospital.

W. F. POTTER'S ILLNESS GRAVE

Grave fears were expressed to-day by the physicians attending President W.
F. Potter, of the Long Island Railroad, as to the outcome of a serious illness from which he is suffering in his apartment at the Marie Antoinette Hotel.

Mr. Potter was stricken on Friday evening. It is believed that the condition of the veteran railroad man, who only a few months ago stepped into the presidency of the Long Island Railroad following the death of W. H. Baldwin, is due to a general breakdown, brought on by overwork. He is being attended by Drs. Janeway and Thatcher. Both physicians agree that Mr. Potter was first threatened with pneumonia, and messages brought his father, H. C. Potter, Jr., of Detroit, to New York from their homes. They are now at the sick man's bedside at the Marie Antoinette.

TRACTION GRAB BILL KILLED.

Long Battle in the Assembly Over Right to Hold Franchise on Unused Streets.
(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, March 7.—The Assembly today killed the bill of Mr. Bedell, of Orange, providing that street railroads might remove abandoned or unused tracks in any street without losing the franchise for that location. The bill was assumed to have reference especially to Amsterdam avenue, in New York City.

There was a long battle over the bill before Mr. Bedell's of New York moved to strike out the amending clause. This was carried by a vote of 79 to 43, killing the bill.

NEW YORK-NEWARK SUBWAY Company ready to Build If Jersey Legislature Passes Bill.

NEWARK, N. J., March 7.—According to a statement given to-day by Thomas N. McCarter, President of the Public Service Corporation, a subway for fast trolley trains, similar to the New York system, is likely to be built by his company between New York and Bloomfield, N. J. Newark. Arrangements have been completed for carrying out the scheme, he says, providing the Dulles bill now before the New Jersey Legislature for the abandonment of the Morris canal is passed.

The subway will be built on the bed of the canal from Bloomfield to Newark and thence through private land across the Newark and Hackensack meadows to Jersey City, where it will connect with one of the tunnels now being built under the Hudson river. By the scheme passengers will be carried at half the present cost and in half the time between Manhattan, Newark and Bloomfield.

NAMED BY CORTELYOU.

Frank R. Hitchcock First Assistant Postmaster-General.
WASHINGTON, March 7.—Postmaster-General Cortelyou announced today that Frank R. Hitchcock, of Massachusetts, had been selected for First Assistant Postmaster-General. His nomination probably will go to the Senate to-day or tomorrow. On the assumption of his new duties Mr.
Hitchcock will retire from the assistant secretaryship of the Republican National Committee.

Mr. Hitchcock was at one time Chief Clerk to the Department of Commerce and Labor, served with Mr. Cortelyou through the national campaign, and as secretary of the National Committee and at present is the secretary of the Legislative Committee.

JULIA BOWNE TELLS HER STORY

She Is Smuggled into Grand Jury Room and Gives Evidence About Elopement with Cordova.

(Special to The Evening World.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 7.—
The Grand Jury this afternoon began its investigation of the elopement of Rev. J. F. Cordova and Julia Bowne.
Mrs. Cordova was the first witness. Her examination occupied ten minutes. Then Julia Bowne was summoned. She was smuggled out of the Sheriff's office and into the Court-House by a rear entrance before the crowd discovered the move. Her examination occupied half an hour. Edward Bowne, her brother, who translated the cipher letters written by Cordova to Miss Bowne, identified the letters and George Fayr gave evidence as to the first elopement.

In the hope of seeing the Bowne girl and Cordova a throng had assembled in and around the Court-House early in the day. There was great disappointment when it was learned that Miss Bowne had been smuggled in and out of the Grand Jury room without being seen.

Before going to the Grand Jury room the Bowne girl had promised her father she would go back home, but she returned to the jail after giving her testimony.

She has been subjected to humiliating experiences since her incarceration at the hands of "camera fiends" and curiosity-seekers, who have besieged the jail and made all sorts of excuses to get a look at her. Even county and city officials have taken advantage of their little authority to compel the girl to submit to interviews on trivial subjects for no other reason than to inspect her.

All the police reserves have been called out to protect Cordova when he is arraigned in court.

H. B. Cook, counsel for Cordova, says he will plead not guilty and stand trial on all charges. He will probably be remanded for trial, which will be fixed for some day next week. Yellow of the crowd in the street, plainly audible to Cordova and the girl, have shaken their nerve, and they have repeatedly expressed dread of being sent to the Court House.
